

AMENDMENTS TO THE ABSTRACT

Please replace the Abstract with the following Abstract.

--A data processing device configured to communicate with multiple sets of resources. The data processing device includes a browser with a first private zone and a second private zone, where the first and the second private zone are each configured to be allocated to a respective set of resources to store information. The data processing device further includes a plug-in configured to ensure that the respective set of resources communicate exclusively with the first private zone allocated to the respective set of resources.--